Our Mission

Founded in 1912, with a history centered on women artists, 3Arts is a nonprofit organization that supports artists working in the performing, teaching, and visual arts in the Chicago metropolitan area, including women artists, artists of color, and Deaf and disabled artists. By providing unrestricted awards, project funding, residencies, professional development, and promotion, 3Arts helps artists take risks, experiment, and build momentum in their careers over time.

What is 3AP?

3AP (3Arts Projects) is a crowdfunding platform with a built-in match that helps artists finance new creative work. 3Arts matches one-third of each project's funding goal, charges no fees to artists, produces the project videos, and provides coaching before, during, and after campaigns.

Artists apply to the program with project proposals, which are reviewed by the 3Arts Artist Council. Approved projects are launched as crowdfunding campaigns on our website. Donors make contributions to 3Arts with recommendations to support specific projects. Once one-third of the funding goal has been reached through donor recommendations, 3Arts pledges its contribution in the form of a matching grant. If the total funding goal is reached within the allotted time frame, all contributions, including the 3Arts match, are distributed to the artist.

What is the impact?

Since 2012, 3AP has maintained an unprecedented 100% success rate, with all projects reaching or exceeding their funding goals. As a result, artists are creating important new work in Chicago that otherwise may not have been realized.

Beyond that, 3AP projects create a remarkable ripple effect. To learn more about this impact, we survey artists after their campaigns are funded and projects are completed. This report includes cumulative artist survey information for projects completed between January 2012 and December 2023.

What are the numbers?

projects

distributed

(Including $293,409 in 3Arts matches)

9,489
donations

- The average number of donations per campaign is 48.
- The average donation amount is $75.
- 94% of artists exceeded their funding goals by at least $50.
- 61% of artists exceeded their funding goals by 10% or more.
- Six artists have exceeded their funding goal by more than 200%.

Who are 3AP artists?

70% are women artists, 61% are artists of color, and 9% are Deaf and disabled artists.

Artists reside in 33 Chicago zip codes as well as 15 community areas in outlying Cook and Will counties. Some artists who completed 3AP campaigns are now based out-of-state (California, Michigan, Minnesota, North Carolina, and Virginia) and abroad in Romania.

3AP is open to recipients of 3Arts Awards, 3Arts Make a Wave Awards, and 3Arts Residencies. On an annual basis, eligible artists are invited to participate in 3AP through an open application process. 3Arts supports up to 20 artist projects each year.

What has been produced?

Artists have funded and completed a wide variety of projects, ranging from music recordings, films, and exhibitions to stage productions in dance and theater, and community-based workshops.

Stage Productions (36%) include dance performances, theater productions, and music concerts.

Audio/Video or Film Projects (23%) include documentary, experimental, or short narrative films, album recordings, and a music video.

Exhibitions (17%) include presentations of new work by visual artists.

Community Projects (12%) include a public mural, the creation of new exhibition spaces, a mobile art cart to deliver free artmaking workshops, a dance workshop for people with disabilities, a youth empowerment international exchange.

Book Publications (5%) include a debut photography monograph, an experimental book series, and an illustrated children's book.

Other (7%) includes creation of an artist residency in Romania, international travel for artist development, and a research project advocating for cultural works made by children.

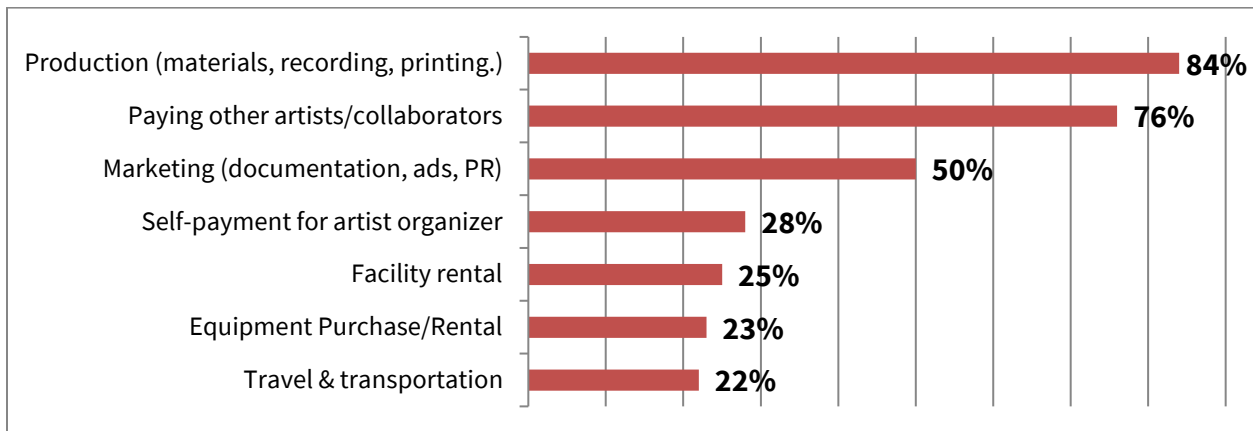

How were the funds used?

The majority of artists use 3AP funds for production costs (84%) and to pay other artists (76%).

Marketing costs (50%) are another common expense and can include documentation, advertising, and promotional materials. Nearly one-third of artists use the funds to pay themselves, highlighting the value of their own time and resources needed in order to complete projects.

Additionally, facility rental and equipment account for roughly one-third of 3AP expenses.

These statistics underscore the economic impact that 3AP generates. Artists are purchasing materials and renting spaces from suppliers, as well as employing other artists for creative services.

Did 3AP provide other opportunities?

In addition to raising funds for new work, 3AP artists reported other benefits from the program, most notably: increased recognition, more knowledge about fundraising, and expanded networks.

Other* includes:

- “I know for a fact that 3Arts jumpstarted a watershed year for me. The Make a Wave Award and then the 3AP crowdfunding put me on the map in terms of fundraising.”
- “It helped legitimize my work and myself in the public eye. The 3AP platform was useful in even approaching other media resources to help promote the performances.”
- “I learned critical things from 3AP: that I actually could ask people for money without dying of shame; that marketing wasn't the mystery I thought it was, neither was social media; and that building community and an audience was as important as the money I raised.”
- “The entire process was one of learning, discovering, adventuring, and at times anxiety inducing. But I feel the better for it, and I appreciate the signposts, foundations, path-flattening, guard-rail providing, visioning that the 3AP experience catalyzed.”
- “Bringing this project to life has been a dream come true that has led to opportunities beyond what I could have imagined.”

Testimonials from 3AP Artists

“3AP allows artists the opportunity and platform to produce their projects successfully. I needed the resources and 3Arts was there. I couldn't have pulled any of the tasks for the campaign off without 3Arts's assistance and support.”

~ Keisha Janae, Trust in Life, $3,530 raised in 2022

“The funding is helpful, but it's incredible to be able to publicize the work in this way. So many people hear about the work who would otherwise not have been in my network.”

~ Anna Martine Whitehead, FORCE! an opera in three acts, $7,531 raised in 2020

“While the funds covered about a third of the cost, the real value was in helping me find my voice. I felt confident applying for another grant. This was from the Jazz institute of Chicago and totaled $17,000. This project brought to life personal stories from longtime residents of Humboldt Park. We held community workshops at local churches to gather narratives. I was able to involve at least 15 performers for this event and the concert was at capacity.”

~ James Sanders, Evidencia: New Music for Violin & Afro Latin Ensemble, $5,108 raised in 2020

“The grants and support 3Arts provides empower me to explore out-of-the-box creative visions, take risks, and amplify my voice. The impact of 3Arts on my life is immeasurable, enriching the cultural landscape and inspiring me to dream, create, and thrive..”

~ Nejla Yatkin, A Dance for a Time Being, $11,000 raised in 2023

“3Arts has proved to be an unmatched advocate and financial supporter for Chicago's artists with disabilities. Programs like 3AP really give us a feeling of legitimacy.”

~ Tommy Carroll, Prosthetic on Vinyl, $3,575 raised in 2022

3AP Artist Spotlight: Diana Solís

Luz: Seeing the Space Between Us: development of a limited-edition artist book that centers on the artist's return to photography and reflects the resilience and complexity of their home community in Pilsen, Chicago.

$10,650 raised in May 2022 from 78 donors.

As Diana Solís recounted, "It all began with my morning walks." During the global pandemic lockdowns, Diana began a habit of strolling her neighborhood streets of Pilsen in the early hours, taking photographs. At first, she focused on capturing the eerie silence of warehouses and factories, then transitioned to taking candid portraits of her neighbors and friends. This was Diana's return to photography where she was able to explore and reacquaint herself with buildings and a community that has for so long been in the throes of rapid gentrification.

After taking countless pictures, Diana had a vision of curating them into a published book. In spring 2022, she launched a 3AP campaign to fund Luz: Seeing the Space Between Us, for which she eventually raised more than $10,000. "Without 3Arts helping to be there, guiding and doing the platform setup, and also the care that you all take working with artists, this would not have happened."

In November 2022, Diana celebrated the release of the book at the National Museum of Mexican Art in Pilsen, which was only the beginning of the public recognition for the artist and the publication. In subsequent months, Diana's work has been featured in exhibitions at the Contemporary Art Center in Cincinnati, the Leslie Lohman Museum of Art in New York City, the Poetry Foundation in Chicago, and the Pilsen Arts and Community House in Chicago.

"3Arts is an invaluable resource and community of peers in the arts. 3Arts give artists tools and opportunity to continue to build community, create change and empower ourselves and future generations through the arts."

3AP Artist Spotlight: Will Liverman

The Factotum, a new opera that adapts Rossini’s Barber of Seville to the setting of a contemporary Black barbershop.

$10,271 raised in July 2020 from 37 donors.

In the summer of 2020, as the country was three months into the COVID-19 pandemic, Will Liverman launched a 3AP campaign to develop a new opera. Like many other artists at the time, his performance schedule had come to a complete halt, and he was nervous about what the future would hold. He was also uncertain about fundraising for a creative project during such a tumultuous time. But The Factotum was an idea that he couldn’t let go of, and while his touring schedule was on hiatus, he had more time to devote to the project than ever before.

As a rising star on the opera circuit, Will had developed a wide network within Chicago and well beyond, which helped him reach his initial funding goal within a matter of days. He then promoted a “stretch goal” of $10,000 to help raise additional funds. After the campaign concluded, he and his collaborator began working immediately. Meeting virtually between their homes in Chicago and Brooklyn, they refined the story, libretto, and musical arrangement.

Without a producer lined up, Will anticipated that he’d have to work hard to get the project in front of the right people and institutions. But the campaign had already caught the attention of Lyric Opera of Chicago. By August 2020, Lyric offered to produce a workshopped version of the piece later that year. The success of that led to Lyric committing to a full production as part of their 2022-23 season.

The Lyric Opera of Chicago presented the world premiere of The Factotum onstage at The Harris Theater for Dance and Music from February 3 – 12, 2023. A mini documentary called The Factotum on Film is available for free streaming on the Lyric’s website.

Production still from The Factotum courtesy of the Chicago Tribune

“3Arts has been magical. Every time I do something with 3Arts, a million things happen as a result. If it weren’t for 3AP, Lyric Opera wouldn’t know about the project. What happened was way beyond what I expected.”
